

Call for Papers

Plaza: Dialogues in Language and Literature, a peer-reviewed online graduate journal, is always seeking scholarly articles that critically examine language, literature, and pedagogy. We are particularly interested in scholarship that seeks out and joins existing conversations in the fields of literature, rhetoric, linguistics, composition, pedagogy, gender and sexuality studies, and cultural studies. We also publish nonfiction creative works, visual works, and are actively seeking multimodal formats.

Submit papers to <http://journals.tdl.org/plaza> by October 31, 2012 in order to begin the peer review process for Plaza issue 3.1.

